CHANGING CIVIL LITIGATION'S LANDSCAPE

Lubin & Meyer PC has dominated medical malpractice verdicts and settlements in Massachusetts and New Hampshire

Since 1974, Lubin & Meyer has been regarded as one of the country's leading medical malpractice and personal injury law firms representing injured victims and their families. The firm's unparalleled results speak for themselves. In the last decade alone, Lubin & Meyer has achieved more than $600 million in verdicts and settlements, transforming both the lives of its clients and the landscape of civil litigation. In 2011, the firm achieved the seemingly impossible — an incredible 36 verdicts and settlements of $1 million or more. In comparison, the individual firm that came closest in terms of results only achieved five verdicts and settlements of $1 million or more.

Widely respected by their peers, Lubin & Meyer's highly skilled lawyers and their groundbreaking results distinguish the firm from would-be competitors. Founding partner Andrew C. Meyer, Jr., and partners Krysia J. Syska and Robert M. Higgins have all garnered a Martindale-Hubbell AV® Preeminent rating for the highest level of professional excellence. Unrivaled in their scope of knowledge and experience, the firm is distinctively unique in their ability to dominate in two formidable practice areas of the law; medical malpractice and personal injury.

Their mastery was illustrated in 2011 when the firm achieved both the largest jury verdict in Massachusetts for a medical malpractice case and the largest jury verdict in New Hampshire for a personal injury case.

The precedent-setting medical malpractice case involved the wrongful death of a newborn. The eight-day-old twin baby girl died from a massive bowel infection while at Beth Israel Deaconess Hospital in Boston. The Suffolk County Superior Court jury found a physician and nurse practitioner negligent in the infant's death. The result was an $11.48 million jury verdict.

The highly complex personal injury case involved a 38-year-old father of two who was killed while cycling in August 2008 when he was run over by a tractor trailer. The driver of the tractor trailer attempted to pass the bicyclist on a left curve in the roadway, but had limited visibility. When a vehicle appeared traveling in the other direction, the tractor trailer had to move to the right leaving limited clearance for the bicyclist and forcing him off the road. The cyclist lost control, and fell back under the tractor trailer's rear tires. He was killed instantly. The trial lasted seven days and the jury deliberated for four hours before reaching an $8.5 million verdict.

Respected for its innovative approach, thorough preparation and commitment to quality, the firm's premiere multidisciplinary team comprises 12 lawyers, four nurses, paralegals and assistants.

"The results that we have achieved are due to the skills we have developed over the years in analyzing, researching, preparing for and trying cases," says Meyer, the "consensus go-to guy" for medical malpractice and personal injury lawsuits. "Each and every case is handled and prepared from its filing as if it will go to trial. The education, background, and years of experience of our lawyers make all the difference."

The top notch firm is very selective in the type of cases it accepts. Though every case is different, and presents its own unique challenges, they are always hard-fought.

"Good cases are made, not born," maintains Meyer, who says that "the reasons for our success are multifaceted." Meyer credits the lawyers and nursing staff at his firm, as well as the "thorough, thoughtful, creative and understanding discovery, and endless preparation." Plus, Meyer says, it helps "when insurance companies know you are willing to go to trial and have a track record of success there. Consistent achievement of verdicts assists you in achieving good settlements."

With award-winning attorneys licensed to represent victims of medical malpractice and personal injury in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Rhode Island, the firm's elite team of trial lawyers has built a legacy of exceptional client service.

"I'm proud that we have been able to put together a team of attorneys and professionals who, through their efforts, have truly changed the lives of the clients we represent," says Meyer, whose name has become synonymous with medical malpractice and personal injury law. "Every client who comes through our door has had some tragedy befall them. They have been let down by someone or have been harmed. As a result of that, it's upon us to gain their trust and show them that we will give them the best representation that can possibly be offered."

Clients can expect individualized attention offered by a team of caring and dedicated professionals, Meyer notes. The attorneys are often very familiar with their plight, and their type of case. Lubin & Meyer's clients receive compassionate personal attention; their calls will be returned and their questions will be answered.

"We do everything we can to help our clients understand the process as they go through it. We also do a top to bottom analysis of all the facts," Meyer says. "Often times our clients don't necessarily understand or know what went wrong or why. Often they are unaware of certain aspects of their treatment and details relating to what occurred to them that we discover in our investigation."

The professionals at Lubin & Meyer don't rest idly on their past accomplishments. Every year they consistently raise their standards and goals to deliver the best results to their clients.

"Our attorneys, nurses and professionals commit to continuing education and learning about new methods of analysis, review and investigation," Meyer says. "We use only the most advanced courtroom techniques including computerization, visualization, and documentary evidence to help clients. Every case is critically important to us."

AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENTS, PERSONAL INJURY, WORKER'S COMPENSATION

Founded nearly five decades ago, Joel H. Schwartz, P.C. has become one of the largest personal injury firms in the region, with 30 professionals and more than 185 years of collective experience. "The reason the firm has grown over the years is that the process is just as important to us as the final outcome," says founding partner Joel Schwartz. "We want clients to walk away feeling like not only did they get a great result, but that our legal team took care of them the entire time."

The firm has successfully handled more than 30,000 personal injury claims, including auto accidents, slip and falls, worker's compensation, nursing home abuse, defective products, social security disability, medical malpractice, wrongful death, and all other personal injuries. Often, these cases involve catastrophic injuries that result in six- or seven-figure verdicts or settlements. "We handle everything from small fender-bender cases to multimillion-dollar brain damage cases, and everything in between," Schwartz notes.

Schwartz credits the firm's success in these cases to its network of accomplished experts, its considerable litigation resources, and the care and concern it shows each and every client. In addition, the firm's attorneys are some of the most distinguished in their field, with honors including Super Lawyers, the Top 100 Trial Lawyers by the National Trial Lawyers Association, Avvo rating "Superb," and the AV® Preeminent™ peer rating by Martindale-Hubbell®. Through their efforts, the firm has been able to recover hundreds of millions of dollars for its clients over the years. "It feels good to know that while we can't make their injuries go away, we can make sure that our clients are taken care of," Schwartz says.

THE SCHREIBER LAW FIRM, LLC

A NATIONAL BUSINESS AND TRIAL LAW FIRM

BANKRUPTCY, CIVIL LITIGATION, COLLECTIONS

After the world's largest gaming concern's Gulf Coast riverboat casinos were destroyed by Hurricane Katrina in 2005, the company searched for a national law firm that could recover millions of dollars lost when gamblers failed to honor markers. At the conclusion of its search, the conglomerate hired The Schreiber Law Firm.

"When gamblers lose money, it's usually in a casino; but when casinos lose money, they call me," notes Jeffrey A. Schreiber, who has since served as the company's national collections counsel, collecting almost $20 million for the company since 2006.

For decades, the firm's attorneys have handled complex bankruptcy and reorganization work. Schreiber has participated in bankruptcy cases involving real estate, technology, securities, manufacturing, lender disputes, and the hospitality industry either as debtor's counsel, lender's counsel, trustee, or creditors' committee counsel.

While the firm focuses on bankruptcy, reorganization, and business litigation, it also represents people in distress. For example, Schreiber secured a settlement of more than $1.3 million in today's dollars for an elderly woman who had her leg amputated after she fell off a treadmill unequipped with an emergency shut-off. He obtained another million dollar settlement in today's dollars for the family of a young quadriplegic who suffocated when a makeshift shower cap slipped over his face while he was unattended.

When the heirs of an estate discovered that their Beverly attorney absconded with millions, Schreiber was appointed as a Superior Court Receiver and recovered all of the stolen money.

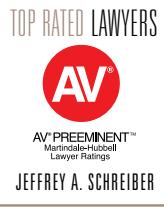

When the mayor of a Midwest City and his brother were named defendants in a securities fraud case, Schreiber defended them, obtained a dismissal of the lawsuit, and stabilized their financial reversals. The mayor is now the frontrunner in a Congressional race and his brother has made a financial comeback.

Presently, the firm is working with private investigators employed by O.J. Simpson's murder defense team to recover a multimillion-dollar judgment against a businessman serving time for a wire fraud conviction.

Schreiber says he has enjoyed representing clients during his first 30 years of practice and looks forward to doing the same for the next 30 years.

SEXUAL ABUSE VICTIMS DESERVE A FAIR FIGHT

When we were kids, the playground had rules. One of the most important ones was that every fight had to be fair: no biting, gouging, ganging up, or picking on someone smaller than you. Once in a while, there might be a bully who didn't get it. We would carefully explain the rules, and usually, he wouldn't make the same mistake again. Simple rules. Simple justice.

The adult who sexually abuses a child is the ultimate bully, and it is the most basic violation of those rules. The child is defenseless, and often there is no one who will stand up for him, or make things right. For that child there is no justice.

When an adult sexual abuse survivor reaches a point in her life when she is ready and able to fight back, things only get worse. The rules for such fights are neither fair nor simple. Prosecutions are impossible because of too short criminal statutes of limitation. Civil suits are blocked for the same reason. And charitable immunity laws assure that any blow successfully landed by an accuser will be just a light tap, instead of a knockout. Survivors of sexual abuse are only asking for a FAIR FIGHT. It isn't fair when an adult abuses a child. It isn't fair when, as an adult, the child can fight back, but statutes or court rulings prevent him from getting justice.

If we care enough, we can end this injustice. The Massachusetts State Legislature has reported favorably House Bill No. 469, which would eliminate civil and criminal statutes of limitations in child sex abuse cases, as well as charitable immunity. If Penn State, Syracuse, the Boston Red Sox, Dr. Melvin Levine, and the daily stories of coach, camp, clergy, doctor, and educator misconduct make you want to scream "Enough Abuse!", please support this bill. Find your state Representative & Senator at www.ma legislature.gov. Call, write, email and talk to them. Tell them you want a FAIR FIGHT on H. 469, and you want them to vote for it.

Do it for the victims we don't know about yet: the uncounted victims of incest; the Center for Disease Control's estimate that 1 in 4 girls, and 1 in 6 boys - about 1.3 million in Massachusetts - will be sexually abused during their lives. They all deserve simple justice.

Stop the bullies. Say Enough Abuse! Help child sex abuse victims get a FAIR FIGHT. Thank you.

VINCENT D. MORGERA, LTD. & THE LAW DOCTORS

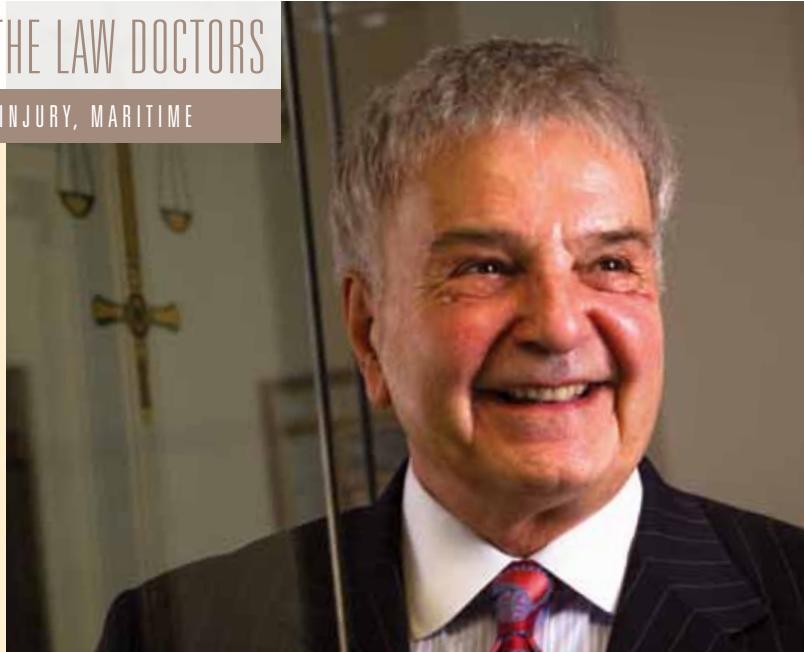

MEDICAL MALPRACTICE, PERSONAL INJURY, MARITIME

Over his career, Vincent D. Morgera has become known for representing individuals who have been victimized or oppressed. "I'm committed to helping the underdog," he says. "Many of the cases we take on aren't for the money, but to do the right thing."

Indeed, Morgera's career has been defined by his commitment to his clients. He started out practicing law in Harlem, where many of his clients couldn't afford legal fees. Instead of turning them away, Morgera took a second job as an insurance adjuster so that legitimate claims could be heard. He also managed the first legal service clinic in New York City. "I don't like to see anyone with a decent case not have access to the courtroom," he says.

Morgera serves victims of personal injury, medical malpractice, product liability, and admiralty and maritime negligence in Massachusetts, Rhode Island, and New York. He personally handles every case from start to finish, while working closely with knowledgeable legal medical consultants to secure the best results possible. "We have a leg up on other law firms because we have an experienced practicing surgeon on hand to evaluate cases and review medical records," he notes.

By combining the disciplines of medicine and law, Morgera has been able to achieve significant results in breakthrough litigation. For example, Morgera became the first lawyer in the United States to establish a connection between low blood sugar and brain injury in newborns through a landmark medical malpractice case. Morgera has also been a leader in promoting efficiency and ethical standards in the legal community as a past-President of the Rhode Island Trial Lawyers Association and a member of various bar organizations.

For more than 28 years, Marcia Mavrides, founder and lead trial counsel of Mavrides Law has helped people in the Greater Boston area resolve family law problems, including divorce, paternity, custody disputes, interstate child removal, prenuptial agreements, post-divorce modifications and enforcement of judgments. Mavrides Law operates on the belief that a strong client-attorney relationship forms the foundation of every successful legal effort. At the firm, you will work closely with a team of attorneys, led by Attorney Mavrides, who will empower you with the information you need to give direction and shape to your future. Strong, smart advocacy and above all: clear, timely communication. From the start of your case through its conclusion, Mavrides Law will be your strong advocate so that you can move past your legal troubles and move ahead in your life with confidence and clarity. The choice of lawyers matters greatly: For over 28 years clients have learned that toughness, compassion, experience, knowledge of the law and court system, as well as unbending dedication to her clients, makes Mavrides Law the choice for family law matters.

LAZAN GLOVER & PUCILOSKI LLP

The attorneys at Lazan Glover & Puciloski, LLP specialize in civil litigation, real estate and land use. Although much of the firm's work is concentrated in the Berkshires and Western Massachusetts, firm members Peter Puciloski, Alexandra Glover and James McLindon (of counsel), all formerly Boston attorneys, handle litigation, real estate, zoning/permitting and appellate matters throughout the Commonwealth of Massachusetts. In addition, Peter and David Lazan are experienced conveyancers, representing buyers and sellers in both residential and commercial transactions.

A significant amount of the firm's practice is in the Land Court; in addition, Peter and Alex regularly appear before town and city boards on zoning matters, and before all trial and appellate courts in the Commonwealth. Geographically, the firm's practice extends from Boston to the Berkshires, including numerous matters in Dukes County.

At LGP, each case is handled directly by the appropriate partner, which practice provides the client with the highest level of expertise in the most efficient manner. As a result of this expertise, attorneys in Eastern Massachusetts often refer their clients, who need representation in their permitting, litigation or transactional matters in Western Massachusetts, to Peter and Alex. The firm represents individuals, business entities, institutional lenders in commercial and residential matters, as well as title insurers as litigation defense counsel.

JOHN F. FINNERTY, JR.

PERSONAL INJURY LITIGATION

John F. Finnerty, Jr. specializes in complex personal injury and wrongful death litigation, including products liability cases involving automobiles, boats, machinery, table saws, sports helmets, medical devices, and pharmaceuticals, and cases involving motor vehicle, train, and construction accidents, professional malpractice, and catastrophic explosions and fires. He has successfully handled hundreds of such cases, achieving verdicts and settlements for his plaintiff clients in the many millions of dollars and verdicts for 90% of his defendant clients.

Mr. Finnerty is currently representing a growing patient group in the national DePuy Orthopaedics - Johnson & Johnson defective hip implant Multi-District Litigation. The ASR and Pinnacle model replacement hips involved are failing in great numbers due to their metal-on-metal components causing biologic toxicity, metallosis, tissue death, muscle destruction, and bone loss, severe health problems that require second surgeries to replace these dangerous products.

We welcome inquiries from prospective clients who have been injured by these defective devices. Time is of the essence due to applicable statutes of limitations, which will bar claims that are not timely filed in court.

PAUL E. LEVISON, ESQ.

HEALTH LAW

In addition to the professional rules that govern the operations of a health care practice or facility, federal and state regulatory requirements (e.g. HIPAA, the HITECH Act, and the Massachusetts Protection of Residents' Personal Information rule) aimed at the protection of patients' health information against unlawful access, and identity theft impose significant additional controls throughout the healthcare industry. The penalties for failure of compliance, including wrongful disclosure, are costly. In addition, the side effect of a significant violation can adversely affect the professional standing of the provider involved. In addition, the rising cost of health care is generating various forms of collaboration such as joint ventures, networks, mergers, and the still very new ability to form "Accountable Care Organizations." One of my main objectives is to "stay ahead of the curve" so that when new developments in the delivery of health are forecast, my provider clients are as prepared, as reasonably possible, to integrate the changes into their day to day operations with minimized costs and reduced disruption.

MARSHA V. KAZAROSIAN

FOR THREE DECADES, MARSHA KAZAROSIAN HAS BEEN A PASSIONATE advocate for clients affected by injury, abuse, or oppression. "Maybe it's because I'm stubborn and not easily intimidated," Kazarosian says. But when asked what sets her apart from others, her colleagues say that if she feels that she can right a wrong, she is like a dog with a bone.

WITH ASSOCIATES JANET DUTCHER AND LINDA LITTLE, KAZAROSIAN built a national practice handling complex cases involving personal injury, police brutality, family law, and civil litigation. Most recently, her son, Marc Moccia, joined the firm. "We are selective in the cases we accept because we want to be able to concentrate our energy and resources into getting the results our clients deserve," she notes.

KAZAROSIAN HAS HAD MANY HIGH-PROFILE CASES DURING HER career, making case law in precedent-setting litigation involving gender and disability discrimination. In a landmark gender discrimination case, Kazarosian and Dutcher won the multimillion-dollar verdict against the Haverhill Country Club in what was the first case of its kind to go to trial in the country. Since then she has become known as a leader in discrimination and civil rights litigation in both Massachusetts and New Hampshire.

KAZAROSIAN HAS ALSO REPRESENTED CLIENTS IN A NUMBER OF HIGH-profile criminal cases. In one notable case, she defended a member of the Hell's Angels Motorcycle Club in multiple federal criminal indictments. She also represented one of the defendants in the Pamela Smart murder case and has represented defendants accused of white-collar crime.

IN RECOGNITION OF HER SKILLFUL ADVOCACY, KAZAROSIAN HAS BEEN AV[®] PreeminentTM rated by Martindale-Hubbell[®]. She has also been recognized by Massachusetts Super Lawyers annually since 2006, and has been the publication's cover feature story. Super Lawyers also recognized her as one of the top 50 women attorneys in Massachusetts and top 100 lawyers in Massachusetts. In 2011, Massachusetts Lawyers Weekly honored her as one of the "Top Women of Law." The publication also recognized her in 1999 as one of Massachusetts' top ten lawyers, noting that she obtained one of the ten highest jury verdicts in the Commonwealth that year.

KAZAROSIAN REMAINS AN ACTIVE MEMBER OF THE LEGAL COMMUNITY, currently serving as the Vice President of the Massachusetts Bar Association. She is a Trustee of Massachusetts Continuing Legal Education (MCLE) and the Massachusetts Bar Foundation, and a past-President of both the Massachusetts Academy of Trial Attorneys and the Essex County Bar Association.
